As the CEO of an OEM system builder and computer service company we rely on Microsoft software and support anything that hurts Microsoft also hurts us. Microsoft has always been open generous with us and has never penalized us for using other operating systems such as Linux and FreeBSD. We also use Microsoft software because of its high reliability and low cost. I think I speak for most of the tech world when I say let's get this finished so we can all get back to work. This is hurting all of the tech industry not just Microsoft it also hurts the tax payers as well. Daniel Nelms CEO BeThere Inc.
